Lindsey Brown

Associate

Montfort, Healy, McGuire & Salley

Lindsey Brown is an associate at Montfort, Healy, McGuire & Salley, a Garden City law firm. Brown obtained her Juris Doctor from Touro College Jacob D. Fuchsberg Law Center in 2015. Before joining the firm, she worked as a paralegal at various New York law firms, concentrating on intellectual property, insurance defense and personal injury. With Montfort Healy, she concentrates her practice in the areas of tort law, insurance law, personal injury litigation and medical malpractice defense. She is an active volunteer with the United Cerebral Palsy Association of Greater Suffolk.

John McKay III

Member

Bond, Schoeneck & King

John McKay III is a litigation attorney in the Garden City office of Bond, Schoeneck & King. He has more than 30 years of experience in all aspects of litigation and litigation support for long-term-care providers in matters related to contracts, employment, guardianships, medical malpractice, personal injury and civil rights issues. His experience includes representing insured and self-insured parties in matters involving representation of municipalities and school districts who are defendants in civil rights claims, liability claims involving negligence and matters pertaining to contract and employment law.

Daniel Solinsky

Associate

Salenger, Sack, Kimmel & Bavaro

Woodbury-based attorney Daniel Solinsky concentrates his law practice primarily on motor vehicle accident and premises liability matters. Solinsky recently won a half-million-dollar verdict in Suffolk County Supreme Court on behalf of a client, who sustained a soft-tissue injury in a motor vehicle accident. Solinsky joined Salenger, Sack, Kimmel & Bavaro in 2011, after serving as principal court attorney under two administrative justices in the Supreme Court of Bronx County. He also was an assistant district attorney in the Bronx, prosecuting violent and non-violent felony matters.

Jessica Sonpal

Associate

Garfunkel Wild

Jessica Sonpal works in Great Neck for Garfunkel Wild, where she is a member of the healthcare and HIPAA compliance practice groups. The attorney represents a wide variety of healthcare entities, including hospitals and health systems, physician practice groups, ambulatory surgical centers, skilled nursing facilities and federally qualified health centers. Prior to joining the firm, Sonpal was an associate at Winston & Strawn, where she practiced commercial and intellectual property litigation. She holds a Juris Doctor from the Fordham University School of Law.

Michael Taubin

National Healthcare Practice Leader

Nixon Peabody

Michael Taubin, a partner in the Jericho office of national law firm Nixon Peabody, was recently tapped to serve as national healthcare practice leader for the firm. He leads more than 80 attorneys practicing healthcare law in five states and Washington, D.C., serving more than 1,500 clients nationwide. Taubin's practice includes the representation of healthcare providers and payers, as well as industries that serve providers and payers. He leverages his knowledge of the Accountable Care Act to advise clients on a wide range of matters.

Seth Weinfeld

Partner

Scully, Scott, Murphy & Presser

A partner with Garden City intellectual property law firm Scully, Scott, Murphy & Presser, Weinfeld has counseled clients in the development of comprehensive intellectual property strategies to maximize the value of their intellectual property assets. This includes developing licensing strategies and the management of pending and issued patents. Weinfeld has experience in due diligence, portfolio reviews, IP auditing and IP asset valuation considering market factors, current usage, licensing agreements and competitive advantages for technologies. In addition to his law degree, he holds an undergraduate degree in electrical and computer engineering.
